Evangelistic services at 7:30 p. m.

PRESBYTERIAN GUILD BAZAAR
The Bazaar arranged by the Presbyterian Guild in the Rehabilitation school building on Friday, proved a complete success financially and otherwise. An interesting collection of needle-work was on display, one feature of which was especially attractive, the collection of woven and platted rugs and piazza mats and beautiful quilts sent in by the Linary School, the Presbyterian School of Cumberland county, and this was an unusually attractive display of the newest things in fancy work by the community workers.
The candles furnished by the members of the Guild were also from the newest receipts and combinations and a bazaar of this order really proves an inspiration to the needle workers and candy makers to produce the newest and best, therefore is educating in its way.
Sandwiches and cooling drinks were served as the day was warm for the usual hot beverages.

The Guild is indebted to Mr. Gibson for the use of the building and his kindness in allowing the school building to be used is appreciated.
On Saturday afternoon an Easter egg hunt was given on the Presbyterian church lawn. In the church a story hour was arranged with Easter and Bible stories and music, after which the tiny people enjoyed the egg hunt to the fullest.
On Tuesday the Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church met at the Manse and enjoyed an illuminating talk on the lesson given by Miss Hanger, followed by an interesting discussion of the lesson. Delegates were appointed for the annual meeting at Sparta, which will convene April 13th. Mrs. McCormick and Mrs. Harding were appointed delegates with Miss Hanger and Mrs. James Quarles alternates.

CUMBERLAND PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
The Elders of the Cumberland Presbyterian church have employed their pastor, Rev. J. R. Goodpasture to preach twice a month. He will be here every first and third Sundays. His text for the first Sunday in April is, "He shall sprinkle many nations," Isaiah 55:15. Come to hear him. He is a man of great ability.

WEDDINGS

FARLEY—TURNER

The marriage of Miss Cora Frances Turner to Mr. Stanley B. Farley, which was to take place in June, was solemnized on Thursday morning at ten o'clock at the country home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Turner of Algood. The marriage came as a surprise to their many friends. The change of plans was caused by the groom's assignment to East Tennessee as relief manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company. Only the relatives and close friends of the contracting parties were present.
Rev. Sam Edwards of Cookeville officiated and the ring ceremony was used. After the ceremony an elaborate luncheon was served and the table decorations were purple and white lilacs.

The bride wore for the ceremony a costume of chiffon taffeta with jet beaded trimmings and hat to harmonize. Her bridal bouquet was Ophelia roses. The traveling suit was midnight blue cloth embroidered in henna, with turban and veil.

Mr. and Mrs. Farley left on the afternoon train for Nashville, accompanied by Misses Sarah Martha and Kathleen Turner, who came up from the Tennessee College, Murfreesboro for the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Farley will visit in Lebanon and Knoxville also, before taking up the new work.

The romance culminating in this marriage began during the war when Mr. Farley spent a leave of absence in Algood. His war service was with the signal corps, for two years, one year being spent in France. Since his return from France until recently Mr. Farley has been with a Memphis concern.

Mrs. Farley is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Turner of Algood and was a recent student in the Tennessee College, Murfreesboro.

RICE—CUNNINGHAM

The marriage of Miss Ethel Cunningham and Mr. Otis Rice was quietly solemnized Sunday morning, March 27 at the home of the bride's parents Rev. J. L. Myers officiating.
The bride is the attractive and accomplished young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Cunningham of White county. The groom is the popular young son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Rice of Baxter, Route 2.
They had dinner with the groom's parents, thirty-one being present.
Mr. and Mrs. Rice will be at home on Baxter, Route 2. Their many friends wish them much success.

NEWS NOTES

Miss J. A. Maloney, who has been in bad health for some time, went to Nashville this week for treatment, and it is feared that an operation may be necessary.
Quite a number of citizens of the lower end of the county were here Monday to attend the preliminary hearing of Zeb Lee, charged with the killing of Lillard James.
Circuit court convened Monday afternoon, with Judge C. E. Snodgrass of Crossville presiding. The docket for this term is not a very large one, and Clerk Scarlett informs us that court will likely adjourn about Friday.

MATINEE PARTY

Mesdames Q. M. Smith and Gillem Maxwell of Cookeville and Miss Kathleen Robinson of Chattanooga were honorees of a matinee party on Saturday afternoon given by Mesdames Chas. Darwin, Robt. Lowe, and Bob Lee Maddux. After seeing a very enjoyable picture, the party was served with delicious refreshments at Womack's West Side Drug Store.

RECEPTION FOR MRS. SMITH AND MISS ROBINSON

Beautiful in every detail was the reception given on Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Mary Simrell and Mrs. Robert Greenwood at their lovely new home on West Spring St., in honor of Mrs. Q. M. Smith and her house guest, Miss Kathleen Robinson of Chattanooga.
The reception rooms where the guests were greeted by the hostesses and honorees, were attractively decorated in bright spring flowers. In the dining room, color scheme of pink and white was carried out. From an effectively arranged table, ices, sandwiches and coffee were served by Mesdames Algood Carlen and Robert L. Maddux. Assisting in receiving were: Mesdames A. Algood, Walter Carlen, Sevier Barnes; Misses Linnie Davis and Virginia Carlen.
A pleasing feature of the afternoon was a musical programme given by Mrs. Smith, Miss Mae Anderson and Miss Robinson.
During the reception hours seventy-five guests called.

MEETING OF THE REVIEW CLUB

The monthly meeting of the Review Club was held at the home of Mrs. Algood Carlen on Friday afternoon, with Miss Lena High as joint hostess. The lesson for the afternoon was led by Mrs. Robert Lowe and Miss Alice Keith Ford, assisted by Misses Marie White and Mae Anderson.
During the social hour which followed the lesson, an ice course was served by the hostesses, assisted by Miss Virginia Carlen. The April meeting of the club will be with Mrs. Herbert Carlen and Miss Marie White.

SEWING CIRCLE ENTERTAINED

The Sewing Circle met with Mrs. Algood Carlen March 9, at her home on West Spring St. The entire house was decorated with jonquills and other spring flowers.
The hours were pleasantly and profitably spent in needle-work. Elaborate refreshments were served. Beside Club members a number of guests were present.

THE SCRIBE WRITES INTERESTINGLY

Of The Many Enterprises Of This Fast Growing Metropolis Where Trade And Traffic Is Always Brisk And Lively

There were busy scenes all the week at McDearman-Williams Co., the big brick on the corner. This firm is enjoying the largest business in its history, which fact is easily explained and made clear to anyone who will take the time to investigate or make a few purchases at this accommodating store. A number of times did this Scribe have to call before an interview with them anager could be had, so busy were they. But one thing can be truthfully said of them that they always have time to treat everyone with courtesy and the greatest of consideration. Time to deal out a pleasant answer to every question. They are anxious to please and demonstrate their anxiety in this particular to every customer and in every sale. They say that one satisfied customer is worth one hundred dissatisfied ones, therefore much care and pains is given in seeing that every purchase made at this store is satisfactory in every particular. I was told that their sales in the clothing line for the season was unparalleled, far exceeding any season heretofore. Their big stock of clothing is kept up right to the minute. New suits arriving almost daily in order to have the size, color and design demanded.

This store pride themselves in their clothing department and have become recognized leaders in men's and young men's clothing. They fit the large and the small, the fat and the lean, the long and the short. Fit the body and the pocketbook. When you're looking for a suit you'll find it at the McDearman-Williams Co. I couldn't talk clothes, it wouldn't be fair, without telling you of that wonderful $121, 100 per cent pure wool, velvet finish serge suit sold by this firm, which carries an ironclad guarantee to give the wearer perfect satisfaction in tailoring, wear and material—and you to be the judge; you to say whether or not the suit has fell down or stood up, whether satisfactory or unsatisfactory in any way—you the judge, the sole judge. Such a guarantee as this suit carries is enough to convince the most skeptical that the garment is correct in every particular.

The new Middy Suits in assorted materials, cream serges and gabardines, are the prettiest I've seen this season. These, I noted were in blues, creams, grays, white and rose.
The Armor-Plate Hosiery that is featured by this firm is said to be one of the best lines of hosiery produced in this country. It includes hose for women and children, both boys and girls and is noted for its wear resistance. This firm is at this time making a special price for the entire season on one of the Armor-Plate high grade ladies' silk hose at $2.00 the pair.

Going on through the different departments of this big store I was impressed with the well assorted and carefully selected stock. The novelties in neckwear for ladies were pleasing and attractive, and in the men's department their showing in men's ties, collars and shirts were beyond anything I had expected to find.

The new Shirts for men are shown in white piques and stripes in the Oxford, poplin and solsette materials. The new attached button-down collar is, I noticed, a very popular seller. These were moderately priced as is every item in this big week.

Going back to the ladies' department, on through the millinery department of Miss Kuykendall, I had to stop to admire some of the new things in millinery just received. There were hats in the making, which is always interesting to me. To see the "left fingers of an expert, build a hat from the daintiest and choicest materials, colors blending perfectly, giving it the artists touch here and there until it is turned out, a thing of beauty and a joy forever, is indeed interesting and pleasing.

A glance at the Ready-to-Wear department revealed some new things in coats, suits and dresses. The new Middy Suits and the new Waists were particularly attractive. So many pretty things to see in this department. I was want to linger, but time was calling me, for I had remembered the dress goods department and must take a closer view of the pretty voiles. When I reached this counter I was simply amazed at the beauty of these new voiles, designs that non but an artist could picture, and none but a poet could describe. They must be seen to be appreciated.

When in Cookeville don't fail to visit this store. It's a treat.—Adv.
